

Create a Project

A project makes it easy for you and your team to access everything you need in one place in Recruiter. Projects can be created for open positions you are actively sourcing, building future pipelines of talent, and tracking current employees for future openings within your organization.

Before you create a new project, here are a few best practices for you and your team to consider following:

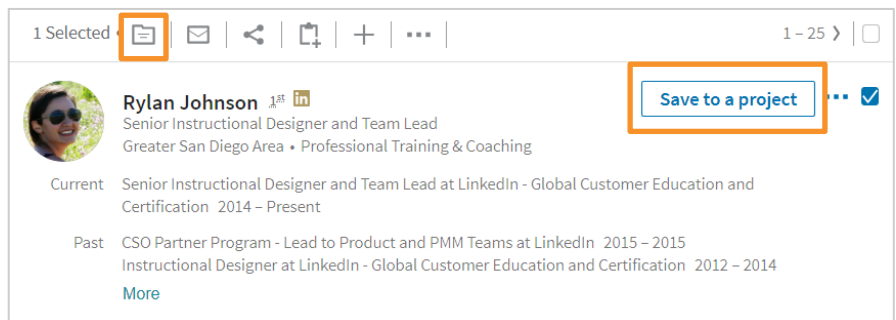

- Develop a standard naming convention to use for all projects. Consistency is key and will make things easier for everyone.
- Determine if you are sourcing for a specific job requisition or building a talent pool for the future. How would you differentiate these types of projects in Recruiter?
- Be as specific as possible in order to quickly identify the right project in Recruiter. (ex. include a job ID code, job title, location, and more).

From the Search Results Page

1. On the Search results page, click Save to a project

OR

Select 1 or more profiles and click the Folder icon at the top of the search results.

A screenshot of a search result for Rylan Johnson. At the top, there is a toolbar with icons for '1 Selected', 'Folder', 'Email', 'Share', 'Copy', '+', and 'More'. The 'Folder' icon is highlighted with an orange box. Below the toolbar is the profile card for Rylan Johnson, a Senior Instructional Designer and Team Lead. A 'Save to a project' button is highlighted with an orange box in the top right corner of the profile card.

2. Click + Create new.

A screenshot of the 'Save Rylan to a project' dialog box. It features a 'Project name' input field with the placeholder text 'Select or Create a project'. Below the input field is a '+ Create new' button, which is highlighted with an orange box. Underneath, there is a section for 'Recent projects' listing 'Project Manager Bay Area' and 'Account Manager (Bay Area)'.

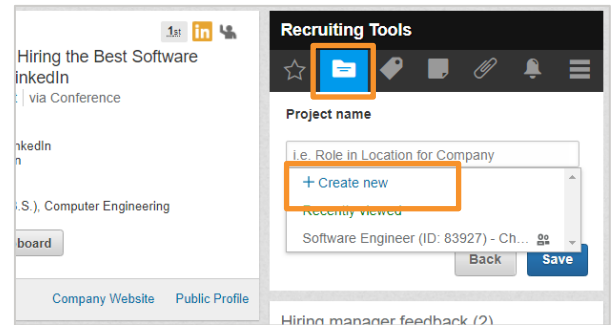

3. Enter a descriptive project name. Follow any best practice naming conventions determined by your team.
4. Click Create new project.

A screenshot of the 'Save Rylan to a project' dialog box. The 'Project name' input field is highlighted with an orange box and contains the text 'i.e. Role in Location for Company'. Below the input field, it says 'By default, projects are private until shared with others'. At the bottom of the dialog, there are three buttons: 'Back', 'Cancel', and 'Create new project', with the 'Create new project' button highlighted with an orange box.

From a Profile Page

1. On a Profile page, go to the Recruiting Tools and click the Folder icon.
2. Click + Create new.

3. Enter a descriptive project name. Follow any best practice naming conventions determined by your team.
4. Click Save.

From the PROJECTS Menu

1. Place your cursor over PROJECTS.
2. Click + Create new project.

3. Enter a descriptive project name. Follow any best practice naming conventions determined by your team.
4. Click Create new project.

